An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure,

MY FIRST SITTER.

I had emerged from the Slade school after several years of art study, which chiefly consisted of drawing and painting the human form in every conceivable position. One day I made up my mind to go and worship at the shrine of the old masters in the National gallery, to see if these high priests could inspire and rekindle in me the sacred fire that was dying out. I wandered through that temple of art, filled with awe and wonder at the magnificent works that surrounded me. Yes; I would try to copy one these chefs-d'œuvre, whichever of them just then most struck my fancy. I found it difficult to decide; at last I fixed on the portrait of Andrea del Sarto, painted by himself; the melancholy, handsome face with the sad eyes fascinated me; of all this splendid collection it was the portrait that attracted me most.

I began to paint. I soon became conscious of the presence of some one behind me, and through the corners of my eyes I saw clumsy pair of muddy boots evidently belonging to the masculine gender. The wearer of the boots coughed; it was not a big cough, but a series of little husky sounds that irritated me. I longed for him to choke and expire on the spot; if he were to remain much longer I felt I must certainly inflict some stains of paint on his person.

"Admirable, beautiful!" exclaimed a voice with a Scotch intonation.

I turned round, my face flushing. Was this individual making fun of my efforts, or was he in earnest? If the latter, then he must in art matters be an ignoramus.

I beheld a stout, elderly man, with a red, jovial countenance; a large vermillion nose, with a couple of buds of noses springing from the main stem, looking as if later on they might develop into other full-grown noses; his small blue eyes twinkled pleasantly; his whiskers were gray, long and bushy—the old Piccadilly weeper. He was attired in a tweed, heather-colored suit, and looked like a Scotch tourist out on a holiday.

"Excuse me for interrupting you," he exclaimed, taking off his hat, and displaying a bald head with a fringe of gray hair that stood erect; "but I cannot refrain from expressing my admiration of your clever work. Already I like it better than the original; it is not so dark, and it is smoother; you are a gifted lassie. Now, would you mind undertaking a portrait? I am rather desirous to have my old phiz painted for my only relation, a sister who lives in America."

I was so taken back by the suddenness of this request that I could scarcely answer; I had never before received a commission.

"I have never painted a portrait," I muttered, leaning on my mahl-stick, palette and brushes in hand; "but I've been studying art for several years."

"Well, will you make beginning with me?"

"What size portrait would you like? Head and shoulders, or one with the hands included?"

"Down as far as the knees," he answered, stroking his trowsers. "While I am about it, I may as well go in for a big picture. Now, business is business; may I ask what your terms are for a portrait? I wish I was younger and better-looking, but that is no fault of mine;" he said this with a genial smile which improved his plain countenance.

"My terms for a portrait? Allow me to consider."

"Yes, take your time. I've been looking round the gallery, and I really don't much like the old masters—they are so dark. Now, just look at this old woman by Rembrandt. I am sure you paint better than that. Your work is nice and smooth and shiny; this is thick and dull. My picture must be smooth, shiny, with a clean white shirt, and all my ornaments neatly painted; my coral studs, and"—taking off a bright yellow kid glove—"this ring; it is a carbuncle with associations. I want it painted—in fact, represent me just as I am, so that all my friends may know me."

I felt this picture would give me trouble, and never could enhance my artistic reputation. But I was an orphan with small means; and this Scotchman looked prosperous.

"If you wish the hands included, it will be 60 guineas." I said this with aplomb while feeling like a tradesman.

"Very well, I am willing to give this sum for a good likeness. When shall I come to sit? The sooner the better; I am a bird of passage, and am in London only for a short time."

He fumbled his pocket and handed me his card:

MR DOUGLAS CAMERON,
The Burn, Dumfries.

"I am a farmer, with a good deal of land north of the Tweed. Now, may I ask your name and address?"

As I had no card with me, I wrote in his pocketbook:

MISS WARD,
24 Thistle Grove, South Kensington S. W.

"Can you come to-morrow at 11?"

"All right, in my Sunday best. "Saying this we shook hands, and he waddled briskly out of the room.

Next morning at 11 o'clock punctually there was a loud rat-a-tat-tat at the door. I peeped from behind the curtain in my room, and beheld Mr. Cameron in a very black new suit of clothes standing on the steps. While waiting for the door to be opened, he had taken out a pocket-comb to trim his long whiskers. The housemaid came and handed me his card; her face was puckered up trying to restrain a smile. I had told her I was going to have my first sitter.

"Well, miss, excuse me, but he is no beauty. How can he want to have his picture done with such a red nose? It do astonish me."

He was ushered into my sanctum sanctorum, consecrated to my art studies. It was a nice room, with a north light. There were several good plaster casts from the antique; autotypes from some of the best masters hung on the wall. There were a couple of easels, an oak chair ready for my sitter, and in a corner stood my skeleton.

In welcoming Mr. Cameron my skirt caught the foot of the skeleton, which rattled ominously.

"What a horrible thing, Miss Ward! How can you keep such a terrible bag of bones in your room? It makes my flesh creep, I assure you."

"Have we not all a skeleton in the cupboard?" I answered, smiling gaily. "I keep mine here; it is useful when I draw."

"Would you mind, Miss Ward, taking it away? You may think me foolish, but this skeleton makes me miserable."

"Oh, of course, I will!" And taking it up in my arms, I carried it into the next room.

"Thank you; but rather than that you should think me troublesome, I shall give you a good reason. A few years ago I lost my wife, and then two bairnies"—his voice sank as he said this. "Anything that reminds me much of death is painful, and as you are going to paint my picture, better not to have a miserable expression."

When he talked, I watched his face, and noticed the extreme benevolence of the expression.

That day, seeing the piano opened, he asked me, as a great favor, to play for him.

"I shall sing 'Highland Mary' for you."

He sat behind me, but, as there was a looking glass in front of me, I could see his face, and was surprised at the strong emotion it betrayed. His face grew almost white, while tears stood in his blue eyes.

"Ah, lassie!" he exclaimed, "what a treat to hear you sing! You have the voice of an angel!"

I sang "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon."

The handkerchief was in constant requisition. I heard him sob out loud.

"You have moved me, lassie, to the core. I can not stand any more; it brings back too strongly the days of auld lang syne, so you must pity the sorrows of a poor old man."

He left me, looking greatly agitated, and with red eyes, promising to return in a couple of days at the same hour for a three hours' sitting.

When Mr. Cameron came for his sitting, he noticed that I seemed dejected, and asked if anything had happened to annoy me.

"I have a headache." (What would we poor women do without our headaches, for they cover such a multitude of sins and omissions?)

"You worry yourself too much over this portrait. I feel ashamed of the trouble I am giving you. I had no notion that portrait-painting was so difficult."

"Yes; I am in a Slough of Despond." I scraped and scumbled. After an hour's work.

On leaving that day, Mr. Cameron held my hand longer than usual, and sighed.

Poor old man! I felt sorry for him; he was lonely.

The next day being Thursday, I went to the National gallery and set to work on my copy of Andrea del Sarto; his face seemed more beautiful than ever. That day's work refreshed and comforted me.

That evening I received a letter from Harold, telling me that he had something important! Most probably he was going to have a living, and, if so, our marriage would soon take place.

The next morning a magnificent bouquet of roses was left at the door for Miss Ward.

"How nice of dear Harold to be so thoughtful!" I mentally exclaimed, while sniffing the glorious roses and enjoying the bright feast of color. The bouquet was wrapped in silver lace, and round the stem I saw for the first time a card, which had escaped my notice:

"From Mr. Donald Cameron, with his very kindest regards."

Oh, so it was not from Harold! But how kind of Mr. Cameron! Now, I must really flatter him. Taking up the portrait, I did my very best to put in a benevolent expression. I mellowed down the nose, and toned down the warm coloring of the face, and managed, in a measure, to give the expression of benevolence.

When Mr. Cameron appeared again, I fancied he looked thinner and paler. I thanked him for the bouquet.

"Would you like another peep at your portrait?" I said, rather brusquely.

"You have flattered me," he remarked, after watching my performance for a while in silence; "but never mind that, I like to think that you have seen me in such a kindly light."

"Shall I sing for you, Mr. Cameron? You have sat long enough for me today."

I went to the piano, and, while I was looking for some music in the rack, Mr. Cameron sat down on the music stool.

"Are you going to play for me?" I asked, smiling at him. "I should like to hear you so much."

He did not answer, but turned round and round on the stool; mopping the perspiration from his face with a scarlet handkerchief. There was a queer expression on his face; evidently he was suffering from a severe attack of nervousness.

He whirled round and round like a teetotum, the stool creaked and groaned under his heavy weight, his eyes were wild and rolled about fearfully; I heard his voice, but it was so husky I could barely distinguish the following words:

"I am a lonely, elderly man, but that is no reason why I should not have a heart, and I tell you that"—now the stool gave a tremendous squeak—"I love you—yes, I do. Will you give me some hope?" A loud knock at the front door.

"Oh, Mr. Cameron, please don't say anything more on this subject, it is really too painful;" but, before I could say another word, Mr. Cameron was sprawling on the floor; the stool had given way. Harold walked in, and we were locked in each other's arms, but I disengaged myself quickly.

"Oh, Mr. Cameron, I am so sorry! Are you hurt? He has been sitting for his portrait, Harold," I gasped out.

Harold, who was a very shy young man, colored up; he had not noticed the prostrate form almost lying at my feet.

"Oh, allow me to help you; the stool has given way, I see," exclaimed Harold.

I could not look at Mr. Cameron, for I felt how wretchedly ill at ease he must be.

"I am a little faint," he muttered, getting up, "but the fresh air will set me up. I am going—where is my hat?"

I saw the hat; he had put it on the coal-scuttle. Evidently he did not know what he was doing.

"Oh, Mr. Cameron, don't go yet," I said; "you have had a shake. This music stool is not in good order. I am so sorry; do stay a little longer."

"No; I must go now, Miss Ward. I have stayed too long; but allow me to congratulate you on your good luck," addressing Harold.

While his back was turned I rescued his hat from the coal-scuttle.

"Now, Mr. Cameron, here is your hat, but I won't give it to you till you tell me when you will kindly come for one more sitting, for I have not done justice to your expression. He has been such a patient sitter!" I remarked, speaking to Harold. "Are we not friends, Mr. Cameron?"

"God bless you both! I wish you every happiness," and, before I knew what he was about, he had pulled his hat from my hand and was on the doorstep.

I never told Harold, or, indeed, any one that Mr. Cameron had proposed to me; I felt grieved and uneasy. Had I been guilty of flirting or misleading in any way that kindly man, who was so lonely? I sincerely hoped he would get some suitable, nice woman to be his wife, for I was almost young enough to be his granddaughter.

A few days after this last episode I received the following note from Mr. Cameron:

"DEAR MISS WARD—I find that I must leave London immediately. There is no necessity for me to give you another sitting, as I am perfectly satisfied with the portrait you have painted of me. I have ordered a Venetian frame and plate-glass for it; the framer will call in a couple of days.

"Please accept the enclosed check for 100 pounds sterling. I don't think 60 pounds sterling could possibly repay you for the trouble and anxiety you have had, and, as you are going to be married, a little money is always useful. If you should have time to spare, I should much like you to accept another commission from me, i. e., a duplicate of the picture you were copying at the National gallery when I first met you; I should like to have it for my drawing-room in Scotland. With my best wishes for your welfare, Yours sincerely,

I sent the copy of Andrea del Sarto to Mr. Cameron. Three months later I was married to Harold, and we went to live in a pretty village in Devonshire. The money I earned from Mr. Cameron was certainly a help, but it is ever with a mixture of pleasure and pain I think of my first sitter. Never since have I been asked to paint a portrait professionally.
—Adapted from Henrietta Corkran in Belgravia.

Descendants of the Twenty-Two.

"Are you descended from one of the twenty-two?" is the first question asked when you introduce Mr. Camp to Mr. Camp—which is explained as follows: Benjamin Camp of Virginia had eleven sons and one daughter by his first wife, who, not unnaturally, died. He married a new wife and repeated his record, having by her eleven sons and one daughter. Having gathered about him his twenty-two sons and two daughters he felt that he had fully obeyed God's first injunction and died the death of the just. His descendants are to be found in every Southern state, having his characteristics of courage, industry, and shrewdness. They are steady lovers, good husbands, religious as a rule, and clannish.—Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

Snow-Shoes for Minnesota Norwegians.

The Norwegians in Minnesota have introduced their peculiar show-shoes there. The shoes are made of strips of hard wood, about ten feet long and six inches wide, slightly turned up in front. They are fastened to the foot at about the middle of the shoe. The wearer slides over the snow, not trying to lift the shoes, and carries a pole with which to keep his balance. Since the big snows of this winter these shoes have been almost the only means of locomotion in Dodge county. It is not unusual to see something like half a cord of shoes piled in front of a store, within which their wearers are shopping.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Fireless Soda Locomotive.

The "Maschinenfabric" at Halle, Germany, has acquired the Honigmann patent for fireless soda locomotives and other soda engines. In style and construction these engines resemble the tramway carriage. The carriage contains a boiler constructed in two parts, and which must be filled every six or eight hours. This is done at a steam station and occupies about fifteen minutes. The engine is run by one man, and it will take a train of several wagons.—Exchange.

Making Paper as Tough as Leather.

A plan for rendering paper as tough as wood or leather has been recently introduced on the continent; it consists in mixing chloride of zinc with the pulp in the course of manufacture. It has been found that the greater the degree of concentration of the zinc solution, the greater will be the toughness of the paper. It can be used for making boxes and for roofing.—Boston Budget.

The Designers of Artistic Valentines.

High prices are paid for valentine designs, and some of the best artists in New York, Boston, and elsewhere are regularly employed by the manufacturers at good salaries, but the greater part of the work is done by the piece by outsiders.

Hard words are like hailstones in summer, beating down and destroying what they would nourish if they were melted into drops.

Sonoma and Glen Ellen are to have telephone communication with the outer world. REPRESENTATIVE FELTON has introduced a bill to amend the immigration laws of the United States, which is aimed directly to prevent any more Chinese from entering this country. It forbids the landing at any port in the United States of any person from a foreign country who is a pauper or felon, or who is interdicted from becoming a naturalized citizen of the United States, and provides a penalty for the landing or bringing of them to any American port by any master of a vessel, unless such persons can show descriptive certificates from a United States Consul. It also provides for the arrest of any such foreigner, who cannot be a naturalized citizen of the United States, wherever found in this country, who cannot exhibit such a certificate.

THE "Call" and "Bulletin" proprietors, who for the past sixteen years have been the bitter enemies of the Union printers of San Francisco, have at last been forced by the Trades Union to open wide the doors of their printing offices to Union printers. Although they have apparently accepted the situation it must not be lost sight of that they still hate a Union printer worse than the devil himself. For years the Typographical Union has sought to bring the "Call" and "Bulletin" to terms, and now, after a hard fought struggle, it has the proud satisfaction of seeing both offices filled with Union men. "Verily, the mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small."

A NEW paper has been started at Lakeport. It is called the "Avalanche." It is controlled by a joint stock company of fifty-two taxpayers. Its name would seem to imply that it intends to sweep everything before it. We have not learned the name of the rash editor who has undertaken the insane task of running a paper to suit the individual tastes of fifty-two men, but we do know that he has undertaken a task, which, if he be a man of spirit and independence, he will gladly relinquish before many days.

AN invitation has been extended by the California State Vinicultural Society to the viticulturists throughout the State, to exhibit their samples at the National Fruit-Growers' Convention, to be held in Washington during May. The samples will be cared for by a committee from this State. The packages sent should be marked outside with the nature of their contents, and stenciled or painted C. O. N. V. All should be addressed to Charles A. Wetmore, care of W. B. Moses.

IT is expected that the Land Office in San Francisco will soon be officially notified of the reversion of the Atlantic and Pacific land grant between San Francisco and San Buenaventura to the public domain. It will take about 30 days after the notification to get through the necessary formulas, when about 2,500,000 acres of land in this State will be thrown open for homestead settlers.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Unsanitary Condition of the Treasury Building.

How Senators Keep out of the Way of Their Constituents—The Edmunds Resolutions.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, April 5, 1886.

There is a genuine feeling of sympathy for Secretary Manning among the employes of all grades in the department over which he has so ably presided since the administration of President Cleveland came into power. As Secretary he has impressed his subordinates as a just man and no respector of persons. The poorest and most humble man and woman in his department received the same courteous and kindly treatment as the most prominent. All seem to feel a sense of personal misfortune in the Secretary's illness.

There is nothing marvelous in the fact that there has been a good deal of sickness among President Cleveland's advisers. Secretary Manning is a gentleman of plethoric tendencies, and his duties have been the severest kind of tax upon his brain. It is, perhaps, not wonderful that Mr. Garland's physical resources give out occasionally under the Telephone troubles to which he has been subjected, and Mr. Lamar accepted office under invalid conditions.

The report upon the unsanitary condition of the Treasury building was a startling document to the thousands of men and women who are obliged to spend seven hours a day or more within its walls. Many thousands of dollars have from time to time within the past dozen years been spent in attempts to improve the ventilation of the building.

The subject has served for discussion among the clerks of that great department all the week. Nothing new has been said because the same subject has been discussed every year since 1860. There is no reason to believe that the building is very trying to the health of its employees. There are too many very healthy old clerks in that department to warrant the conclusion that great fatality attends employment in it. There are men who have spent what constitutes a pretty long life within its walls. Nevertheless, it is quite true that the ventilation is defective. It was designed and built at a time when little attention was paid to the importance of sanitation, and the style of the building is such that it is probable that no improvement is to be expected. The truth is that the form of a Greek temple is an improper one to adopt for a great work shop.

Two months ago a Democrat—an old Irish veteran—was appointed to be a watchman in the Treasury Department. He was assigned to duty at the door of one of the rooms connected with the redemption division. Every one noticed the alertness of the new watchman, and the careful scrutiny given by him to the employes as they passed in and out. Last week he took a Democratic friend aside and told him that the Republicans could not be as bad as they were painted. "I have been here," said he, "eight weeks, and watched every one of 'em like a cat watches a mouse, and niver a one of them have been caught stealing a thing."

The distance his home is from Washington has a good deal to do with the ease and comfort of a Senator's life during the session of Congress. Those Senators coming from a distance from this city are but seldom troubled by callers, while those representing States within a few hours' ride of the National Capital sometimes have to resort to all sorts of subterfuges to escape the rush of constituents, and the consequent drain upon their time and patience. Mr. Gorman of Maryland has more cards sent in to him than any other man in the Senate. On some occasions his constituents are so numerous in the reception room that he is forced to take refuge in the cloak room, so that the door keepers can say with perfect truth he is not in the Senate Chamber, or to sit in some one else's chair in order that his callers may be told he is not in his seat. Mr. Logan, by reason of his candidature for the Vice Presidency during the last campaign, is—or was—the recipient of many cards. Most strangers, and especially those hailing from the States bordering on Illinois, have heard of and are anxious to speak with "Black Jack." The Senatorial representatives of California and other far Western States are but seldom troubled by callers.

Strikes in the lower House and Republican Senatorial caucuses on the question whether they will live up to the letter of the Edmunds resolutions about confirming Presidential nominations have marked the past week on Capitol Hill.

Senator Bower did not dodge on the Edmunds resolutions. He is paired on all political questions with Senator Jones of Florida. Efforts have been made to induce him to declare it null and void, but he declines on the ground that Jones seems to have such poor success in making another pair in Detroit that it would not be fair to break up the sterile one he has left in Washington.

Strange Foundlings.

[Oroville Mercury.]

The following story is told by Fred. Faul, a young sheep owner well known in this community, and we can vouch for its truthfulness: A few days ago he saw on a sheep range near Wyandotte a coyote, and in attempting to kill it, followed the animal to its den, which was under a pile of rocks on the side of a hill. His shepard dog, Flora, which had, a few weeks previously, given birth to seven pups, four of which had been killed, was with him at the coyote's den. This remarkable dog, after its master had dug an entrance to the den, went in, where she found seven young coyotes, not more than several days old, and, to the surprise of Mr. Faul, began to lick the young coyotes, and finally la'd by them in their den and actually suckled them. The old coyote, strange to say, all that time did not attack the dog, and the dog refused to come out until Messrs. Faul and Geo. Schooler had thrown sufficient of the rocks away to get into the den. The seven coyotes were taken out, carried into the house, the dog all the time showing great solicitude for her adopted children. On reaching the house the young coyotes, their eyes not yet open, were placed on a bed of straw, and since that time the dog has cared for them with the greatest possible canine parental care. Stranger still, she has abandoned her own three pups and will not permit them to come near her. The puppies have to be fed with a bottle, while she furnishes an abundance of milk for the coyotes. The coyotes are thriving, and in a short time Faul will bring the whole batch to town following his shepherd dog.

USES FOR COMPRESSED AIR.

Its Especial Advantage Described by an Expert—Washington Aqueduct.

"What are some of the uses of compressed air as a motor?" asked a reporter of a leading dealer in rock-drills and compressed air machinery recently.

"It is especially well adapted," was the reply "for rock-drills, pumps, hoisting engines, and other machines used in mines, shafts, tunnels, and underground work in general, where the direct use of steam would be very inconvenient, and in most cases entirely impracticable. The fact is that the compressed air is a motor for all the essential purposes of steam, without the loss of power due to condensation and without the heat and many other inconveniences attending the use of steam as a motive power, especially in confined places and at a distance from the source of supply. It is, therefore, applicable to all engines that can be operated by the expansive power of steam, either at high or low pressures, and one of its principal advantages over steam is that it can be stored and transmitted through pipe to any distance without material loss of pressure or diminution of volume, the only requisites being pipe and ample area, with tight joints and laid with the least possible number of sharp turns. In mining work particularly it has the additional advantage that, upon exhausting from the drills or other machines used, it furnishes to the workmen a constant and abundant supply of pure, fresh, and cool air, thus in many cases obviating the necessity of providing other and expensive means of ventilation."

"Is it applied to other kinds of work successfully?"

"Quite so. For instance, in sinking bridge caissons; driving tunnels through soft material by the pneumatic process; for refrigerating and ventilating purposes; transmitting messages, packages and passenger cars in pneumatic tubes; vulcanizing wood; in the manufacture of rubber goods and nitro-glycerine explosives; for elevating liquids, purifying water for city and town use, driving street cars, mine locomotives, and for supplying a very convenient and perfectly safe motor for running elevators and factory and shop machinery. The feasibility of compressing air either by steam or water power, at any convenient point for economical production, and then conveying it by iron pipes along the streets (exactly as gas or water is carried), to be tapped and used wherever required, furnishing power for use in towns and cities, has already been practically demonstrated, and it is only a question of time when this plan will be extensively adopted, owing to its economy and safety. By this system power may be transmitted to a great distance at a comparative small expense.

"At the tunnel being driven for the Washington, D. C., aqueduct, the compressor plant is located at a central point for economical operation, and the air distributed over a distance of five miles over ground, through ten, twelve and six-inch pipe, to the four shafts where it is received by four-inch pipe and supplied to the drills, hoisting engines, and pumps. When the tunnel is completed the air will have been conveyed through ten miles of pipe. This is the longest distance air has been conducted, and the loss by friction and radiation does not exceed 2 per cent. It can just as readily be conducted a much longer distance without a higher percentage of loss.—New York Mail and Express.

Oil Produced from the Peanut.

The immense quantity of peanuts grown in Africa, South America, and in our own southern states afford not only a pleasant article of food, but a very large source of oil production. The seed contains from 45 to 50 per cent. of a nearly colorless, bland, fixed oil, not unlike olive oil, and used for similar purposes; it is a non-drying oil, which changes but little by exposure to the air, and remains fluid even at several degrees colder than 32 degrees Fahrenheit. A very great quantity of soap is manufactured from this kind of oil; indeed, some of the finest toilet soaps imported from France are of this material.—Chicago Times.

DENNIS C. WILCOX, the ex-broker who committed suicide in New York on Tuesday, before he went into Wall street in 1882, had a fortune of $2,500,000.

A Word to Workers.

If your avocations are mentally or physically laborious, if they subject you to exposure in inclement weather, if they confine you to the desk, and are of a nature to involve wear and tear of brain, and nervous strain, you may occasionally require some renovating tonic. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the article for you. It stimulates the fallen energies, invigorates the body and cheers the mind. It enables the system to throw off the debilitating effects of undue fatigue, gives renewed vigor to the organs of digestion, arouses the liver when inactive, which it very often is with people whose pursuits are sedentary, renews the jaded appetite, and encourages healthful repose. Its ingredients are safe, and its credentials, which consist in the hearty endorsement of persons of every class of society, are most convincing. Admirably is it adapted to the medical wants of workers.

The rain storm which has prevailed almost incessantly for the past ten days, has been the heaviest for the month of April ever known in these parts. The streams have been running very high, but as yet no damage of consequence to property has been reported. The crops so far are safe and the heavy rain has been of advantage to the farmer, vineyardist and orchardist.

The members of the Sonoma Brass Band met at the Pavilion on Tuesday evening last and elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Jas. Albertson, President; F. L. Clark, Secretary; Frank R. Corbaley, Treasurer; Jesse Burris, Musical Director; Albert Oettl, J. J. Wystyrk and Robt. Wilson, Finance Committee. The people of Sonoma will be pleased to know that the band is in a more flourishing condition now than ever before, and we can now safely assert that it is one of the permanent fixtures of this town.

Patrick Flaherty, a laboring man employed on the ranches about Glen Ellen, came to town Monday and indulged too freely in the use of ardent spirits. He put up at one of the hotels in town and the next morning appeared upon our streets and proclaimed that he had been robbed of a $10 piece. Duputy Sheriff Sparks instituted a search for the missing money and was rewarded by finding it in the room where the man had slept. In his maudlin state he had thrown his waistcoat on the bed and the coin being loose in one of the pockets of the same had dropped out.

The Election.

Lively interest was manifested in the city election which took place last Monday. Although the rain fell in torrents throughout the day a full vote was polled. Taking it all in all it was a good-natured contest, party lines being entirely lost sight of and no acrimoneous feelings were indulged in. At one time during the day could be seen on one corner the rival candidates for City Clerk pleasantly chatting together, while just opposite the friends and candidates for City Treasurer were holding a sort of love feast. It was in this manner the contest was conducted, which speaks well for the temper and conservatism of our people. After the ballots had been counted, a number of the successful candidates "set 'em up" in grand style. Following is a tabulated statement of the result:

The Ewell Birthday Party.

The birthday party, given on Friday evening of last week by Mr. and Mrs. P. D. F. Ewell in honor of their sons, Fred. and Eddie Ewell, was one long to be remembered with pleasure by those who participated. Although the night was a stormy one—the rain falling in perfect torrents—it did not deter the friends of the young gentlemen from being present. At an early hour the guests began to assemble at the Ewell residence, which is situated one mile west of Sonoma, and were received by Mrs. Ewell, who did all in her power to conduce to their pleasure and comfort. Music from San Francisco had been specially engaged for the occasion and dancing was indulged in till 12 o'clock, when an ample collation was served, to which full justice was done. At one o'clock dancing was renewed and kept up till 4.30 in the morning. The following invited guests were present: The Misses Mattie Goodman, Willie Akers, H. Ehrlich, A. Ehrlich, E. Raschen, A. Raschen, J. Tobin, G. Lyon, G. Johnson, J. Dunn, L. Dunn, E. Gaffney, M. Gaffney, M. McHarvey, R. Sydnor, Rosa Levy, Ella McIntyre, Cora Perkins, Rose Wilson. Messrs. H. H. Granice, C. Dunn, A. The New Postoffice.

The affairs of the new postoffice, under the management of Postmaster Pauli and his efficient assistant, Miss Eloise Pauli, are being conducted in a business like and systematic manner, much to the gratification of the people of Sonoma Valley, who, for a long series of years, were obliged to put up with many inconveniences that at times seemed almost unbearable, and which are now a thing of the past. The new office is roomy, clean, well-lighted, and provided with lock-boxes, and is presided over by a pleasant and accomodating gentleman, who feels that his first duty is to serve the people to the best of his ability.

A Freak of Nature.

[Petaluma Courier.]

We were shown this week a young chicken hatched on the premises of Mrs. Frank Ward of this township, that is a curiosity. It had three well developed eyes and two mouths, and but one body. Just below the eyes the two mouths were separated, but perfect in all respects. On each side of the head, where a chicken's eyes ought to be located, were two well developed visual organs, and right in the center of the head, just above the division that formed the two mouths, equi distant and on a line with the regular eyes of a chicken, was a third eye as well formed and to all appearances as perfect as the eye of any chicken. It died soon after hatching, and is now in the possession of Frank Hemenway of Whitney & Co.'s store. It is a curiosity.

SANTA ROSA ITEMS.

[Daily Democrat.]

The roads on the low lands between this city and Petaluma are reported to be so deep with mud, caused by the late rains, that in some places they are almost impassable.

Mrs. V. Charles of this city received a letter a few days ago, stating that her daughter, who resides in Humboldt county, had killed a bear. We are not informed of the kind of bear.

A. G. Maple, whose residence is on College Avenue, this city, died suddenly in Arizona, while on his return from the East, whither he had been on business for some time past. The remains are expected every day.

Alfred J. Louck, a native of England, and formerly foreman of Lay, Clark & Co., died at the Hospital, Monday, April 12th, of acute inflammation of the bowels. The deceased was 25 years of age, and had been in this county two years.

The little 10-year-old son of M. Clarey started out Tuesday morning upon Mr. Anderson's horse, to admit some stock to their pasturing grounds. At 7 o'clock Tuesday evening nothing had been heard or seen of him, neither did he return to his home Wednesday morning, nor in the evening, and up to a late hour Wednesday night nothing had been heard from him.

W. F. Kuykendall, one of the firm of Lee Brothers & Co., while unloading granite blocks from the freight cars at the depot, one day last week, sustained a fracture of one of his ribs. He kept right at work, however, until Tuesday, when he was told by a physician that his rib was broken, and that it would be wise for him to lay off for a time. He did not know what ailed him until Tuesday.

John Sheridan, aged 65 years, a native of county Cavan, Ireland, died in Santa Rosa, April 7th, of inflammation of the bowels. Mr. Sheridan arrived in this State in 1852. Some time afterward he was married and lived most of the time in Sacramento county. In 1880 he and his wife moved to Santa Rosa, where he remained up to the time of his death. He was an honest, good citizen and was loved and respected by all who knew him. He leaves a kind and loving wife to mourn his loss.

Death of a Pioneer.

[Petaluma Courier.]

William L. Van Doren, a pioneer of California and of this city, died here on the 9th instant of paralysis. The deceased gentleman was born in New Jersey, June 2, 1810. In 1850, with his family, he moved to California from St. Louis, Missouri, and until 1856 resided in Nevada and Sacramento counties. In the latter year he came to Petaluma, and from that time on until his later years he was proprietor of some of the principal hotels of the county. He was always a genial, big-hearted, popular gentleman, and but few men in this community were better or more favorably known. He leaves several children, all grown, among them John S. Van Doren of this city and Wm. H. Van Doren of Santa Rosa, both well known throughout the county. The funeral took place from the Congregational Church last Sunday and was largely attended.

A Mad Reynard.

[Santa Rosa Democrat.]

W. H. Wardell of Salt Point township, brought to the County Clerk's office one day last week, a pelt which he stated was worn by a mad fox. He said such an animal was something he had never had an intimate acquaintance with before. Although he had occasionally heard of them he had never put much faith in their existence till now. He was walking down a bridle path, one day not long since, leading his horse by the bridle, when a fox sprang into the trail about twenty yards ahead of him from the thick brush, which lined the trail on both sides. The animal's actions were very peculiar, as they are generally afraid of men, but this one came directly for Mr. Wardell, with mouth open, tongue lolling out and eyes glaring, after the manner of a mad dog. He picked up a small stick from the ground and shied it at the fox, thinking it would frighten it away, whereupon the animal grabbed the stick in its mouth and crushed it into splinters, and then made straight for Mr. Wardell and sprang at his throat and breast. He kicked it with his heavy boot, and partially stunned it, and then jumped upon Reynard and stamped his life out. Before life was extinct, however, the fox had bitten him through the boot leg in three different places.

On motion of Mr. Allen, the Board then adjourned until Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

SATURDAY, April 10th.

The Board met at 9 A. M. Present—Supervisors O'Hara, Connolly, Allen, Chairman Ellis presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The road-scraper men being present, the matter was taken up. Mr. O'Hara said that his Roadmaster had tried the "Daisy" on his roads Friday, and was satisfied that that was the machine wanted, that it gave perfect satisfaction. The "Daisy" is manufactured by the Pennock Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Pool, the agent of the "Boss," addressed the Board, saying that if Mr. O'Hara bought the "Daisy" the Board had better take a bond indemnifying the county, as the "Daisy" is an infringement on the "Boss" patent.

Mr. Allen of the "Pennock," said that he would say the same thing of the "Boss," the Board had better take a bond in case the "Boss" was purchased.

After some further statements from both agents, Mr. Coulter said he did not think that the statements of either of the gentlemen were worth enough to consume the time taken up by the argument. He thought both of the machines were good, and that one was not worth any more than the other. He thought that neither of them was what was wanted. That a reversible machine was what is wanted, and that he should not buy any other.

Mr. O'Hara spoke strongly in defense of the "Daisy," which he said gave perfect satisfaction.

Mr. Pool said that the "Daisy" was not strong enough.

Mr. Allen, the agent of the "Pennock," claimed that the "Boss" machine would slip more than his four-wheel machine.

Mr. Pool said that he would let the Supervisors see both machines work, and if his machine slipped as much or more than the "Pennock," he would give the county one gratis.

Messrs. Ellis and Connolly both said that if they were going to buy a machine for their road districts they should prefer the "Boss" machine.

Supervisor Allen then moved that when the "Daisy" Manufacturing Company file good and sufficient bond of indemnity with the county, that two "Daisy" scrapers be purchased for Vallejo and Petaluma road districts.

After some discussion the bond was fixed at $2,500. The motion was unanimously carried.

The following bills were allowed:

T. M. Harris	$59 00	O. T. Baldwin	$10 00
Jacob Garder	18 40	A. H Parks	52 90
John W. Graeff	22 30	G. W. Sparks	19 00
James A. White	43 20	John O'Hara	26 70
J. J. Lowery	2 30	L. G. Ellis	43 80
J. D. Connolly	40 80	S. T. Coulter	36 30
George F. Allen	40 86	G. W. Kinney	24 30
"Republican"	148 95	T. T. Campbell	10 00
Henry W. Hudson	126 35

In the matter of the petition of F. Breitenbach, W. B Reed, and others, for a private road over the lands of E. Waters, E. D. Reed, W. B. Reed, T. D. Mason, C. Beales, L. W. Mayers and A. Goethe, Mr. O'Hara moved that the petition be received and placed on file, and P. R. Davis, C. Wilson and Jas. Gibson be appointed viewers, to report at the next meeting of the Board.

Mr. Coulter thought that Mr. Denman, being the County Surveyor, was the proper person to perform that service.

Mr. O'Hara said the reason he moved that Davis be appointed viewer was that one of the petitioners had made private arrangements with Mr. Davis to do the service.

In the matter of the obstruction on the Guerneville and Duncan's Mills road, Mr. Connolly moved that J. R. Simmons, Road Overseer of Redwood township, be instructed to remove said obstruction immediately, unless Guerne & Murphy build a bridge over the Hulbert Canon creek, or make a better change than where the road now is, within ten days after the service of this notice. So ordered.

In the matter of Mr. O'Hara's motion appointing P. R. Davis and others to view the private road prayed for by W. B. Reed and others, Mr. O'Hara inserted Mr. Denman's name in the motion in place of P. R. Davis' and it was carried.

In the matter of confirming the sale of the County Hospital property, Messrs. Allen and Coulter said that $2800 was not enough for the same, and that it ought to be advertised again.

Supervisor Ellis thought it had been advertised enough, and was in favor of the county keeping it.

On motion of Supervisor Coulter, all bids for the County Hospital property were rejected.

On motion of Supervisor Allen, the Board then adjourned until Wednesday, April 14th, at 10.30 A. M.

WEDNESDAY, April 14th.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, at 10.30 A. M. Present—Supervisors O'Hara, Connolly, Allen, Coulter, and L. G. Ellis in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read before the approval of the same.

The District Attorney addressed the Board in reference to the exchange of Adam Grant's bonds, which was affected during the last session of the Board, saying that in case of litigation he was entitled to all the protection that the minutes of the Board would afford him, and he thought that the minutes should be so amended as to show that the exchange was effected by order of the Board.

The minutes were so amended.

On motion of Supervisor Allen, so much of the minutes of the Board's proceedings of April 10th as referred to the purchase of a road scraper for Petaluma and Vallejo road districts, were amended so as to read, "Pennock, four-wheeled roadscraper at $175," instead of "Daisy roadscraper at $100."

The minutes were then approved.

A communication was read from the Bank of San Jose and Ralph Lowe, Esq., proposing to exchange bond No. 1, of the county of Sonoma, of the issue of August 18, 1880, bearing interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, for a new bond bearing interest at four and one-half per cent per annum.

On motion of Supervisor Coulter, the Treasurer was authorized to make the desired exchange.

The Board, after convening at 1 P. M., adjourned, to meet at the call of the chair, for the purpose of visiting the County Farm.

At 3.30 P. M. the Board returned from the County Farm and then proceeded to the Hospital.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

WEDNESDAY, April 7th.

The Board convened at 9 A. M., all the members present, and Supervisor Ellis in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The bills were then taken up, and the following were allowed: G. F. Allen, $20; J. F. Mulgrew, $2 30; W. M. Jones, $42; J. F. Naughton, $7; W. H. Hassett, $50; A. McBean, $121 90; J. Carrillo, $61 50.

Mr. Holms of Knight's Valley, was present and addressed the Board with reference to his bill for building the bridge over Stoney creek in Knight's Valley. He said that he had seen Mr. Patrick, the Road Overseer of that district, and he was in favor of the county's paying him $300 for the bridge. The matter was postponed temporarily, and the special order for the hour taken up, to-wit, a road petitioned for in Analy township, through the lands of E. C. Hinshaw and others.

Mr. Rutledge appeared for the petitioners and Mr. Geary for E. C. Hinshaw. A long discussion followed in which a number of interested parties participated. Several motions and counter motions were put and defeated, when a vote was taken to deny the prayer of petitioners and resulted as follows: Ayes—Coulter, Allen, Chairman Ellis; noes—O'Hara, Connolly.

On motion of Mr. Connolly, the Board then adjourned until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

THURSDAY, April 8th.

The Board reconvened at 9 A. M. Present, Supervisors Connolly, Allen, Coulter; Ellis in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

In the matter of the repair of road in Analy township, known as the Pepper or Middle road, Mr. Allen moved that the Road Overseer of said road district be instructed to make such necessary repairs on said road as will make the same adequate to the public requirements; and further, that the Clerk be instructed to notify the said Road Overseer, J. W. Wiley, of the action of the Board. So ordered.

On motion of Mr. Coulter, the petition of A. E. Burnham, et al., for a new pound district, to be known as Dry Creek pound district, was placed on file and Wednesday, May 5th, at 2 P. M., was set for further hearing.

A petition was read, signed by J. D. Jamison, Pastor of the Baptist church; T. A. Atkinson, Pastor of the Fifth street M. E. Church; T. H. Woodward, Pastor of the Third street M. E. Church, and J. Campbell, Pastor of the Presbyterian church, Fulton, praying that they be granted permission to hold religious services at stated intervals as may be desired by the patients at the County Hospital and with inmates of the Poor Farm, such services to be conducted under the control of the various churches of Santa Rosa, acting in accord with the officials in charge of those institutions, and in harmony with the best interests of the inmates.

On motion of Mr. Coulter, the petition and accompanying letter from Rev. J. Campbell, were laid on the table.

In the matter of the petition from the Salmon Creek Lodge, 234, I. O. O. F., praying for permission to disinter and remove the remains of D. G. Pressley, now buried at Guerneville, to Sebastopol.

Mr. Coulter moved that the permit prayed for be issued, said permit to be under and governed by the provisions of an act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An act to portect public health from infection, caused by exhumation and removal of the remains of deceased persons, approved April 1, 1878." So ordered.

In the matter of the communication of W. H. H. Clayton, in relation to the return of taxes wrongfully assessed and collected in the year 1885, Mr. Allen moved that the Clerk be instructed to notify Mr. Clayton that upon the filing of a bill for the county's portion of the wrongfully collected taxes, the Board will then order a warrant drawn in favor of W. H. H. Clayton for the amount of the taxes. So ordered.

A petition signed by fifty-two residents and tax-payers of Analy and Petaluma townships, was read by the Clerk. The petitioners prayed that Thos. Pollard and his aged wife, respectively 70 and 71 years of age, be allowed $15 a month from the indigent fund.

Mr. Coulter spoke in reference to Mrs. Beckett of Windsor, who is receiving $10 per month from the indigent list, and whose son is sick unto death with consumption, saying that she was in need of further aid from the county, and he moved that the allowance be increased to $15, which was done.

Mr. Allen moved that the Pollard family be allowed $10 instead of $15, as prayed for. So ordered.

On motion of Mr. Coulter, the report of R. P. Smith, County Physician, was received and placed on file.

The Justices' reports were taken up and the following received and placed on file: B. B. Berry, Analy township; J. P. Emerson, Mendocino township; F. Breitenbach, Sonoma township; D. B. Morgan, Cloverdale township; C. H. Cooley, Cloverdale township; A. Keenan, Vallejo township; T. J. Jones, Russian River township; J. Brown, Santa Rosa.

A petition was read, signed by eight citizens and taxpayers of Vallejo township, asking that the present road leading from J. Lynch's place on Sonoma mountain, to the Eagle Hotel, Penn's Grove, be improved, as it is in a bad condition. Being a private road the Road Overseer of that district does not feel licensed to expend any money on the same; wherefore the petitioners pray that an appropriation be made out of the Vallejo road fund of $50, or thereabouts, to assist the several farmers directly interested in grading said road and being allowed to work out their road tax thereon instead of on some other road. After some little discussion, on motion of Mr. Coulter, the petition was received and placed on file, and the further consideration continued, to be taken up at the pleasure of the Board.

On motion of Mr. Allen, the reports of J. Claypool, Superintendent of the Poor Farm, and H. W. Smith, Jailer, were received and placed on file.

Mr. Coulter said that from all that the Board knew now he would get the bonds, unless an injunction were served upon it.

On motion of Mr. Coulter, the Board then adjourned to meet at the call of the chair for the purpose of visiting the Poor Farm.

Taking Care of His Watch.

[Philadelphia News.]

"A man called about six months ago," said the pawnbroker, "and handing me a watch worth at least $150, asked me to let him 25 cents upon it. I looked at him in surprise, and then hastily ran over our list of stolen watches. It was not mentioned there. I told him that I would give him far more than 25 cents upon the watch. He said he wanted no more, and, noticing my look of surprise, he said to me: 'To-night I accompany some friend to the theater. I know from previous experience that I will become intoxicated, and I will either lose or sell my watch. I now leave it safe in your hands, receiving for it 25 cents. To-morrow morning I will pay you 28 cents and get it back.' Well, sir, regularly every week or every two weeks that man visits me and leaves his watch in my care."

Trying to do business without advertising is like winking at a pretty girl through a pair of green goggles. You may know what you are doing, but nobody else does.

Quitting advertising in dull times is like tearing out a dam because the water is low. Either plan will prevent good times from coming.

AGENTS WANTED for the MISSOURI STEAM Washer

Active, honest persons all over the country, with or without team.

JOHN C. EVANS, SPOONTAIN, IDA., writes: "I stand up and affirm that a Washer saves more hard labor and money in a large family than any Reaper and Mower that ever was put on any farm with less than 100 acres in cultivation. If you will get up any instrument that will take as much labor off of men as this Washer takes off the women, and save as much money as it does and costs no more, I could sell one at every house, if they had to take the feathers from under their wife and babies to pay for it."

JOHN R. DODGE, JR., Jeweler, NORMAL, ILL., writes: "You ask what I think of the Washer I bought last summer. Ist. It is the best machine ever invented by man. 2d. We have just as good dinners on Monday as on any other day. 3d. If you run short, you can not buy one for $1000. I will ship a sample to those desiring an agency on a week's trial on liberal terms. A thousand per cent the best washer in the world for saving labor, clothes and soap. Pays capable agents big money. Write for particulars.

This Wash Board is made of ONE SOLID SHEET OF HEAVY CORRUGATED ZINC, which produces a double-faced board of the best quality and durability. The fluting is very deep, holding more water, and consequently doing better washing than any wash board in the market. The frame is made of hard wood, and held together with an iron bolt running through a tube formed on the lower edge of the zinc, thus binding the whole together in the most substantial manner, and producing a wash board which for economy, excellence and durability is unquestionably the best in the world. We find so many dealers that object to our board on account of its DURABILITY, saying "It will last too long, we can never sell a customer but one." We take this means to advise consumers to INSIST upon having the NORTH STAR WASH BOARD. THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST.

Manufactured by PFANSCHMIDT, DODGE & CO., 248 & 250 West Polk St., Chicago, Ill.
